

Bags of books for kids to read once again

► FROM PAGE 8

The initiative has encouraged some people to come forward and donate books.

It includes an economics teacher of a government college and a Calcutta-based publisher, who gifted many books when he learnt the purpose for which they were being bought. All that the person buying them at the store had asked for a discount.

